Life Newsbytes

The Obama administration is advancing a controversial new federal regulation that would bar states from defunding Planned Parenthood or other abortion providers ... The HHS (Health and Human Services) rule would bar states from denying Planned Parenthood millions of dollars in Title X family-planning funds based on any criteria “unrelated to the provider’s ability to provide the services required.” “Since 2011, 13 states have placed restrictions on or eliminated sub-awards with specific types of providers,” the HHS wrote. “In at least several instances, this has led to disruption of services or reduction of services.” If adopted, the rule would formally codify the Obama administration’s interpretation of the law, which is hotly contested by state officials and pro-life advocates alike. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) sent a letter to states in April that providing abortion-on-demand “neither disqualifies a provider from participating in the Medicaid program, nor is the provision of such services inconsistent with the best interests of the beneficiary.” (LifeSiteNews.com, 9/7/16; CLR Life Wire, 9/8/16)

Speaking Up For Life

“So the next time you see some fading flowers, remember how short life is and then remember how eternal God’s Word is and pray, ‘Lord, more than anything else, help me uphold the truth of Your Word and the value You give to life.’” Rev. Dr. James I. Lamb, former executive director of Lutherans For Life

“If anybody understands God’s ardor for His children, it’s someone who has rescued an orphan from despair, for that is what God has done for us. God has adopted you. God sought you, found you, signed the papers, and took you home.” Max Lucado, pastor and author

“We simply need to see no child as unwanted. We need to focus on others, rather than ourselves, and be open to visiting orphans—that is, be open to wanting the ‘unwanted,’ helping the child in need. And it can start with just one. One life loved can make all the difference. After all, one life changed the entire world.” Dr. Alveda King, niece of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Jean Garton – “Where There Is Life, There Is Hope”

by Dave Andrusko (From LifeDate – Fall 2016)

Pro-life heroine Jean Garton, author of the pro-life classic Who Broke the Baby? reminded 2016 NRLC Prayer Breakfast attendees, “the greatest friend of truth is time” and congratulated pro-lifers for an unflinching devotion to the cause of life.

Garton spoke of historical examples where products were advertised as uniquely beneficial only to be shown to be uniquely detrimental to people’s health over time. So, too, with abortion, sold as a “solution” to a crisis pregnancy.

Mrs. Garton—shown here with Congressman Chris Smith (R-NJ)—delighted the audience with anecdotes from her own family, demonstrating that while adults can pretend not to know the unborn is one of us, children know differently. Indeed, the origin of the title of Garton’s memorable book goes back to when her then-three-year-old son walked into a room where Jean was reviewing slides of aborted babies. He asked, “Mommy, who broke the baby?”

She talked of the famous National Prayer Breakfast when Mother Teresa spoke truth to power—to an audience that included members of the pro-abortion Clinton administration. The tiny nun said, “We are carved in the palm of His Hand, and the unborn child has been carved in the Hand of God from conception.”

Garton said, “We, too, have the opportunity to display that same moral courage Mother Teresa did when we vote this November.” The election “provides an opportunity to determine who will appoint the next Supreme Court Justices.”

She reminded us, “If unborn children are to be protected from death by abortion; if newborn handicapped children are to be protected from death by infanticide; if the elderly, the ‘non-productive,’ the dependent are to be protected from death by euthanasia; and if the sanctity of life is to be affirmed and protected, then our voice is essential.”

Garton concluded with a story of a man who asked her why she did what she did. She responded with answers we all might offer up: she’s pro-life, abortion corrupts the whole culture even as it injures and maims women and men, and so forth.

Then when he repeated the question, Jean understood what he was really asking: Why was she personally traveling when she is nearly 88 to give speeches hundreds and thousands of miles from home and after devoting 47 years of her life to our movement.

“I am always fishing for brothers and sisters in the faith that we might strengthen one another and share our joy in the Lord,” she explained. And she added, “In the pro-life movement, I have the opportunity to meet the finest people throughout the world.” And finally, Jean said, “I do what I do because I cannot not do it.” We have been called to be salt and light by Jesus Himself, she reminded us, and “I’ve learned from Jesus that Christianity is not a spectator sport.”

*Dr. Jean Garton was the first president of LFL and is a keynote speaker at the 2016 LFL National Conference, October 21-22, in Bloomington, Minnesota (www.lutheransforlife.org/conference).
